DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

1. Claims 10, 12-15, 18-19, 21-23, 26 and 28-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.
2. Specifically, the terms "current time counter", "current time counting means", and "current time counting step" in claims 10, 18, 19, 21 and 26 cannot be found in the original specification or drawings. Further, no "time counting" means may be inferred from the specification as filed. Consequently, these limitations are directed to new matter.

Foreign Priority

3. Receipt is acknowledged of a translation of JP 2003-044341 in an attempt to perfect priority to 2/21/2003. However, the translation cannot be correlated with the specification of this application 10/780903. It is not clear which subject matter of the present application is disclosed in the two foreign filed prior applications : 2003-094255 and 2003-044341. Further, The translation provided for 2003-044341 differs from the specification of this application and the terminology used therein. For example, the term "current time counter" cannot be found in this application. In addition, Fig. 1 of this application, the description of which appears necessary for the understanding of the invention, is absent in 2003-044341.

4. In view of the above, priority to 2/21/2003 cannot be established at this time.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 10, 12-15, 18-19, 21-23, 26 and 28-30 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shimizu (20030198140) in view of Iino et al (6218769) for the reasons set forth in the Office action of 7/9/2009. The amendment to the claims does not add any structure not previously identified in the Office action.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's comments have been given careful consideration, but are not persuasive.
3. Applicant sole argument is predicated on the added limitation to all claims: "the timing device driving pointers to display the current time while receiving radio wave signals". Applicant suggests that in the timepiece of Shimizu the pointers or hands are not driven while the timepiece is receiving radio signals . However, a review of the disclosure of the reference indicates no circuitry disabling the hand drive unit while the radio signals are being received, or for disabling radio reception during advancement of the hands.

At par. 0031 of Shimizu:

"During operation a radio signal containing time information is received, and if the time information in the received signal is correct the current time is adjusted by the current time adjusting unit based on the received time information."

Further, at par. 0116:

Based on the time information in the received time signal, the current time adjusting unit 42 rewrites the content of the current time information storage 41 and runs the current time adjusting process to adjust the current time displayed on the display unit 5 via the drive control circuit 61 (S18)."

In addition, the flow diagrams of Figs. 3-4, 7-8 and 10 lack any steps disabling the driving circuitry during radio reception. It is therefore apparent that the hands are driven to display current time at all times, including the time during reception of radio signals.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
